

We set the scene for the Jodie Read seminar at Pro Landscaper's FutureScape event next month

A QUESTION OF COMPLIANCE

Running a business is challenging enough without the added pressure of determining what quality, environmental, health and safety systems you need to have in place to meet legal or customer requirements. Jodie Read will be delivering a seminar on this topic at the forthcoming FutureScape event. Here is what you can expect from that seminar.

Within the landscaping sector, businesses are often asked to demonstrate evidence of a range of Standards or schemes such as ISO9001, ISO14001, OHSAS18001, NHSS18, CHAS or Constructionline. During the seminar, which will be an interactive 20 minute session, followed by questions and answers, Jodie will review what is legally required, and consider why companies might choose to implement others.

The seminar is free to attend and is designed to appeal to landscape contractors. The session will last for 20 minutes, with a further 10 minutes for questions and answers. It is intended to be a fast-paced, fun and interactive session. Approximately 30 spaces are available, so anyone interested in attending is encouraged to pre-register via email to editor@pro-landscaper.co.uk.

BENEFITS OF ATTENDING

For attendees, there will be an opportunity to:

- Complete a free compliance checklist.
- Understand what Standards are applicable.
- Ask questions to clarify how requirements apply to your own business.
- Find out where to source extra information.
